Matthew Paul Albright Leaves Merrill Lynch to Join Bering Street Advisors of Ameriprise

HOUSTON, TX – Winthrop & Co. is pleased to announce that Matthew Paul Albright has officially joined Bering Street Advisors, a private wealth advisory practice of Ameriprise Financial, based in Houston, Texas.

After building his career at Merrill Lynch, Matt made the decision to transition to a collaborative team environment where he could focus more deeply on client relationships, planning, and long-term service. His move to Bering Street Advisors reflects a desire for both professional alignment and personal growth, joining a high-caliber team where he can contribute immediately while continuing to build his own book of business.

Matt specializes in family wealth planning, education funding, estate strategies, and business retirement plans. His planning-first approach offers clients 1:1 financial advice, portfolio diversification strategies, and regular progress reviews—all backed by Ameriprise’s award-winning digital tools and platform.

“When you work with me, you get more than a plan—you get a relationship,” Matt shared. “The right advice can help you prepare for whatever life brings—expected or not.”

Matt is excited to contribute his experience to a strong team that shares his values, while continuing to deliver personalized guidance to families and business owners throughout the Houston area.
